Sleighs have disappeared and wheels are in general use. Motoring in the suburbs is an uncertain risk except on the concrete highway. Roads to Lewiston are good, barring a few stretches.

Arthur C. Descoteau, '23, was home from Bates College over the week end. He has been selected to take charge of the biological exhibit for the Jordan Scientific Exhibition on April 26 and 27.

Fifty or more couples attended the Moose old fashioned dance at Grange Hall Monday evening where Mellie Dunham kept 'em awake. The young people are taking interest in contra dances for they outnumbered the old timers. Another dance is on next Monday.

Sam Stuart returned Monday from Portland and vicinity where he visited a week or more. He has given up the rene in the Whitman house at the Falls and stored his furniture. Having sold his farm in Harrison, he is undecided what he will do.

Harry E. Lovejoy's street department wagon has been painted a bright cherry red and is a conspicuous object on the highway.

Prof. George A. Yeaton of Augusta has been in Norway and vicinity giving fruit growers instructions in eradicating the San Jose scale from trees and shrubs.

Lowell Emery, aged 29 days, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lowell Barnes, passed away Saturday. The child had been frail since birth but a slight gain was noticeable a week before the end, which came suddenly. A prayer service by Rev. C. G. Miller was held at the home, Sunday afternoon.

The Universalist public whist will be held Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. G. McIntire.

Mrs. F. A. Danforth will entertain the Barton Reading Club Thursday afternoon. Roll Call to be answered by quotations from Stevenson and the reading will be on "Travels."

John Judkins: "Yes, that is my car number; it is not a big one—pretty small; mine is licensed to carry the passengers and it cost $30.00. Ten for the car, ten for passengers, and ten more for Federal tax. $30.00 all told."

Miss Emily Gould of Portland, who has been nursing Mrs. Clarence M. Smith for the past ten weeks, returned home last Sunday.

The members of the Past Matrons' Association, Order of the Eastern Star, were recently entertained by Mrs. Eva M. Kimball. Baseball is the chief topic of conversation. The executive committee handling affairs for the local association will release authentic dope on the subject before many days. The committee is in touch with real players and a tentative line-up will be ready to broadcast within a short time. Two thousand dollars have been subscribed with more promised if needed.

Addie Longley was home from Gould's Academy over the week end, returning to Bethel Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. McCarthy spent a day or so at Livermore Falls visiting friends. They resided there several years before locating in Norway.

Durwood Mason of the Portland Press Herald was in town recently in the interest of the circulation department.

Members of Pennesseewassee Lodge K. of P., are planning a big time for Friday evening, April 20. Supper served at 6:30 will be followed by an entertainment and old fashioned dance. All Knights and their ladies are expected to attend. The committee in charge are sparing no pains to make this one of the most enjoyable events of the year.

Decoster and surveyed into streets and building lots.

Eleanor Van Dyke Duffield, after a short visit in town, has returned to her duties as superintendent of a hospital in White Plains, N. Y.

Comparatively few of this generation have seen crude drugs in the form of roots, barks and leaves. Seven kinds familiar to our great grandmother are on exhibition in the window at the A. L. Clark Drug Co. It is a curious sight for many acquainted only with tablets, essences and liquids.

Ethel Brown, who has been confined to her room by sickness for several weeks, is gaining slowly and is able to sit up a few hours each day.

Annual Meeting of Chautauqua Association

The annual meeting of the Norway-Paris Community Chautauqua Association was held Sunday afternoon at the South Paris I. O. O. F. banquet room, with a good number of the guarantors represented. Meeting was in charge of Pres., E. N. Swett.

Reports by secretary P. F. Stone and treasurer Arthur E. Forbes were accepted. A circular letter fom Loring J. Whiteside, pesident of Community Chautauqua explained the organization would celebrate its 10th anniversary this year, therefore exerting every effort to make the summer program the best possible. In a personal letter to Mr. Swett, he praised the work of the local association and expected to hear of our complete success in staging the entertainment. Mr. Whiteside could give us no certain date but expected to open here on or about July 20.

After discussing the comparative merits of the Community and Redpath Chautauquas, a vote showed sentiments unanimously in favor of retaining the Community service. This question was brought up in the meeting to give friends of the Redpath opportunity to present their reasons for desiring a change.

The matter of removing the small deficit was discussed with some sentiment in favor of assessing the guarantors to square the amount. A vote was finally passed to let the matter rest until after Chautauqua week.

After some discussion, it was voted to hold a union preaching service Sunday as in former years. Dr. C. L. Buck, Clarence G. Morton and Dennis L. Joslin were chosen a committee to have full charge of arrangements.

Seats will not be reserved as suggested. The revenue from a certain number would assist finances but the sentiment was strongly against this method. It was explained by Mr. Forbes the Community spirit would be destroyed if action was taken to separate or favor any portion of the audience.

Before the election of officers, Pres. Swett in his remarks mentioned the fact of his seven years continuous service and wished to retire and give others a chance. He desired not to be considered for re-electoin. This action was protested by Geo. F. Eastman, A. D. Park, Dea. Edw. Woodbury and others who expressed their appreciation of the splendid work performed and wished the continuation of the excellent record during this 10th anniversary year.

All the officers were re-elected as follows. Advertising and ticket committees will be appointed by the president:

Voters Consider

A new school building as called for in warrant will put the town in debt up to the limit.

Do we want to do it, however, we may need the building.

What about work that must be done, how will we do it?

Would it not be well to have a good margin on the safe side?

Is it well to "burn our bridges"? Is it fair to load posterity with our extravagances? There are no more people in Norway now than ten years ago. Why the terrible demand for more school room? Have all ways been considered that would help out? Is a forty thousand job the only way out? It is doubted. Put up one of two small school buildings to care for the lower grades.

Vote for these things as though it were a personal matter, which it is. These various fine improvements are what is making the High Cost of Living.

Can we do it? We cannot afford it.

Wm. C. Leavitt.

The annual meeting of the Barton Reading Club for the election of officers will be held at the home of the president Mrs. Alice E. Brooks, on the afternoon of April 26. Unless it is thought best to hold meetings through May, this will be the last for the season.

Arthur Tucker, who has lived at Farmington for the past 20 years, will return to Norway to make his home at the Tucker farm at Norway Lake. Mr. Tucker has been superintendent of the Water Co. at Farmington for the past 17 years and his resignation takes effect July 1st. He will carry on the farm and attend to his duties at the Waterford corn shop.

Archie G. Parrin's bowling alley in the basement under his barber shop and pool room is about completed. The basement has been excavated and with an addition built on the rear makes a room 80 feet long and 14 feet wide. A birch wood alley way 60 feet long will permit a free run for the game. The interior is finished with Upson board with air spaces and insulating material between the walls to deaden sound. The room will have steam heat and electric lights. Entrance is on Main street near the corner of the building. The stone work was done by Clarence Merrill and Freeman Smith while Reggie Dinsmore and Oliver H. Merrill are doing the wood work.

Massachusetts Politician Speaks

"We have got to stop spending money. In our private or business affairs, when our expenditures begin to equal or exceed our income, we revise our budget. If necessary, we do without, for a time at least, those things we feel we should have or even that we may actually need. Right now we are in the grip of a wild spending mania, with its accompanying orgy of taxation. Our city, state and national governments, if they were doing their full duty to the people, would be striving in every way possible to reduce our tax burdens. What should be advocated is an appreciation of the simblest and most elementary business virtues—economy, thrift, honesty. Any darn fool can spend money."

Those who are to vote to bond the town of Norway to its limit at next Saturday's town meeting should read the above over at least six times and ask themselves:

"Where shall we commence to be economically sensible?

When?

Read the sublime lesson of prodigality in an increase of the tax rate from $34.70 to $55.80 in the last five years.

When will it stop?

It is for the voters to say. Will they say it?

Will they be present and vote down this wave of unnecessary educational extravagance?

Whittling Contest Settled

The whittling contest at the "Wearies" has been decided. The "Keen Kutter" was given to F. W. Sanborn who managed to nose out John A. Woodman by agreeing to give the knife to Mayhew Tupper and pay for engraving the word "Mate" on the handle.

The knife was sent to Lee Weston, the Rockwood postmaster, to be given to Mate when he came out of the woods. Mate sacked the whittling timber from Cowan's Cove to Rockwood, some five miles, and the Wearies are under deep obligations to him.

Another "Keen Kutter" with engraved initials "A. E. C." was given A. E. Chaffin in recognition of the exceptionally good cedar furnished by him and known as the "Buckfield Strain."

Bert Hutchins, the jeweler, did the engraving and L. M. Longley & Son, agent for the "Keen Kutter" gave the knife for the contest.

Agricultural Club Notes

The classes went on a pruning and grafting trip, Monday. Thus far they have worked on orchards at Frank Decoster's, Merton Wyman's and P. H. Nevers', besides many single trees in the village.

Prof. Brown and the class attended the A. W. Walker & Son field day at South Paris, Wednesday. They carried note books and jotted down data for articles to be written as a part of the class work. This trip has been an annual event for the class since the course was instituted in the Norway school and proved highly instructive.

Harold Nevers has purchased 300 R. I. chicks which he is rearing in a coal stove brooder. This is in connection with his agricultural project. Lester Richardson has forty yearling barred rocks from the poultry project started last Spring and is operating a 240 egg incubator to increase his flock. Both students made good with the project the past year.

The freshmen and sophomores are busily engaged measuring land, wood and hay in the rick and mow. Their project plan books including the year's program of work, will be completed this week and results forwarded to the state officials.

Shooting Matches at Armory

The matches being pulled off by Co. C National Guard at their in-door range in the armory are creating friendly rivalry among the contesatnts and much interset in locol sporting circles.

Co. C defeated the Carroll, Jellerson Shoe Co. team recently by nine points. This was 20 rounds standing. The shoemakers were represented by Stephen O. Jellerson, James True, Ben Bancroft, Eddie Trafton and Garfield Walker.

Friday evening Co. C secured 379 points against the W. F. Tubbs Co.'s 337. Co. C team includes George Lowe, Joe Crooker, Harold Palmer, Arthur Olmstead, and Elsid Mattor. The Tubbs outfit comprised George Tubbs, Walter F. Tubbs, Elmer Aldrich, Verne Rich and Jack Burgess. Twenty rounds were fired five each standing, sitting, kneeling and prone. The Tubbs marksmen jumped ahead on the prone position.

A match between the Carroll, Jellerson Co. and the W. F. Tubbs Co. has been arranged for Monday evening, April 23. A mix-up featuring Co. C and the Central Maine Power Co. for Saturday afternoon is pending.

All matches are open to the public and many are witnessing the sport.

Passing of the Cobblers

"The Cobblers" a social club, was organized Dec. 11, 1864 and has had an existence for 59 years. The surviving members recently concluded to sell the building and land and disband.

The two story building 16x22 is to be sold and moved away. The land also is to be sold including furniture, drawers and book cases.

The surviving members are George W. Carter, H. B. Foster, F. W. Sanborn and L. J. Brooks, all of Norway.

Capt. Sampson: "It takes more than one robin to make summer. Walked out in the country Monday, found the roads in every condition from dust to snow banks three feet deep."

Orrington M. Cummings, aged 84 years is in a critical condition due to his advanced age. He has been unconscious at times, but rallied somewhat Tuesday with a slight return of strength.

The supper to have been served at the regular meeting of Lake Temple Pythian Sisters Tuesday evening was indefinitely postponed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Olmstead were called to Waterford, Sunday, to be with their young son Lewis, who had been severely injured that day. The little fellow got entangled under a set of sleds which were being put away and badly injured about the head and body. No bones were broken and it is hoped he will come out all right in a few days. He is being cared for by his grandmother and his uncle, Charles Leonard.

Twenty-Five Norway Boy Scouts on Hike

Last Saturday the Boy Scouts of Norway called the weather man's bluff and in spite of his notice through the papers that it would rain or snow and maybe both, started off on the record hike of the season. The boys assembled in front of the American Legion Hall, Scout Headquarters, at a quarter of nine and went through some manœuvers preliminary to the march through the village. Promptly at nine o'clock the troop lined up on Main street and had their picture snapped by the assistant scout master. They marched down Main street in patrol formation at attention and kept the formation until they reached the fork in the road just outside the Norway line. At this place the troop was divided into two details. Patrol leader Henry Favor took charge of the lower geared boys which "hit the pavement" to the first cross road connecting the two forks of the road to Oxford. The high geared group took the fork to the left and slushed through the snow and mud till they met the other detail about a half mile east of Cold Water Brook. The two groups then returned to the bridge crossing the brook and set about building fires and preparing dinner. Great interest was shown in passing scout tests both before and after chow. Patrol leaders Irving Joslin, Hosea Curtis and Henry Favor assisted by Victor Everett and Herman Judkins had charge of the tests. Just before dinner two more scouts arrived, bringing the number up to 25. If Gary Locke's little brother and Skippie Favor be counted, there were 27 individuals on the hike in addition to the leader.

Following is the list of scouts on the hike with the number of tests passed by each: C. Tucker, 3; F. Gammon, 5; H. Curtis, in charge of tests; H. Judkins, 1; F. Lewis, 1; Joslin, in charge of tests; G. Locke, 3; I. Isaacson, 6; H. Favor, in charge of tests; G. Bachelder, 4; C. Moore, 3; P. Holden, 2; V. Everett, 1; E. Perry, 3; B. Barker, 3; L. Taylor; E. Wentzel; E. Hall, 3; E. McKay, 1; D. Everett; V. Ashton; N. Tubbs; K. Goodwin, 2; K. Bickford, 1; Horace Brown, 2. Total number tests passed, 43.

Following is the list of tests passed with the names of the scouts who passed the tests:

Cooking, 2nd Class—E. Perry, K. Goodwin, C. Tucker, F. Gammon, I. Isaacson, C. Moore, Cooking, 1st Class—V. Everett.
Fire Building—F. Gammon, G. Locke, I. Isaacson, G. Bachelder, C. Moore, E. Perry, B. Barker, E. Hall.
Use of Knife and Hatchet—B. Barker, C. Tucker, F. Gammon, I. Isaacson, P. Holden.
Oral First Aid and Fireman's Lift—G. Bachelder, H. Brown.
Oral First Aid (only)—I. Isaacson.
Scout Pace—C. Tucker, F. Gammon, I. Isaacson, G. Bachelder, C. Moore, E. Perry, B. Barker, E. Hall, E. McKay.
Signalling, 2nd class—H. Judkins.
Tracking ½ Mile—F. Gammon, G. Locke, I. Isaacson, P. Holden, E. Hall, K. Bickford.

The special features of the day were signalling from two hill tops, swinging on birch saplings, inspecting the architecture of the covered bridges and last, but not least, the recruiting of a new number to the scout troop. To show that the scouts have no prejudice as to race or color, a relative of a pole cat was cautiously approached and persuaded to join the troop. All the scouts with the exception fo Skippie gave the newcomer a hearty welcome. Arrangements are under way to make the newly recruited scout a permanent member of the local troop.

The scouts who hiked the entire ten miles and then in addition did two more miles at the scout pace say "It's a great life if you don't weaken." Nobody has weakened as yet.

Athletic Meet

The annual indoor athletic meet of the Universalist Sunday school at Concert Hall Friday evening caused much fun from the various contests and games.

A jar of candy was offered for the dash by contestants under ten years, and this was given Charlotte Longley. Phoebe Cobb's side won the Tug of War. Vocal selections were enjoyed by Henry Woodworth, and duets by Mr. Woodworth and Ruth Libby. Fortunes were drawn and read, causing much merriment; in a conundrum contest, Mrs. Emma Swan proved to be the brightest guesser and received the first prize. Mrs. Fannie Monk was the farthest "off" and receive a consolation prize. Mrs. Etta Ridlon received a consolation in one of the contests. The cake in the penny cake walk was won by Comrade S. S. SOUTH PARIS

First Annual Minstrel Show

The I. O. O. F. scored a success Thursday evening with the first annual old fashioned black-faced minstrel show. Six hundred people crowded Association Hall to the doors and were delighted with the jokes, songs and sketches.

The first part showed the regulation circle of twenty-two men all members in black face except the interlocutor, Albert D. Park. White trousers and black coats were worn by the circle while the four end men appeared in gay suits and winged collars. Vocalists in the circle included, Frank Maxim, Roy Conant, Clarence MacDonald, Wm. Johnson, Frank Goldsmith, J. Harland Abbott, James Perry, Luther Hollis, Harry Conant, Morton Bolster Earl Farnham, Don Chapman, Clarence Jackson, Harold Tufts, Scott Martin, Arthur Witham, Leroy Titus, T. E. R. Barnes.

The jokesmiths on the ends were Fred C. Hall, the old timer;, Ralph "Jake" Andrews, a comedian of ability; Jim Combellack, a funny fellow, and Walter Chandler. The comedians passed across local patter that went strong and hit solid. All end songs were snappy. Solos by Morton Bolster, Frank Maxim and Earl W. Farnham were well received. Mary Abbott the little miss seated near the interlocutor and dressed similar to the End men, won applause with her solo "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers."

Fred Hall a favorite with South Paris audiences was funny as ever and "Jake" Andrews made a hit once again in his home town. The Melody Quartet introduced as the "Agomy Quartet," comprised Roy Conant, Frank Maxim, Billy Johnson and Clarence McDonald. They rendered the "Stuttering Song" very acceptably.

Viola Walton and Muriel Bowker as "Vi" and "Moonie" opened the olio features with a novelty act requiring a number of changes of costume. This pair are the "pippins" in local Vaudeville and never fail to bring down the ceiling. This act was something different from their usual line of comedy and made a pronounced hit. They answered a number of encores.

Solos by J. H. Combellack and Arthur Witham were well received, and the Melody Quartet including the same vocalists in the first part, appeared as dapper young men was good.

The Chandler Co. in "A little of Everything" was a sketch built around a Medicine Show booking office with W. S. Chandler as "Sam" the colored assistant. Talent working out their acts for an engagement were Evelyn Wight, a Scottish dancer; Jim Combellack, tamborine soloist and Billy Johnson the "Wiggle Girl." The three specialties introduced were good.

A regular "Nigger Hoe Down" closed the show, this being a regulation colored celebration given by the plantation owner, Albert D. Park to entertain friends. Practically the entire company appeared in the darky scramble.

Shaw's Orchestra played during the show and for dancing that followed.

Credit is due Earl W. Farnham, Harry Conant and A. D. Park, the committee in charge of the entertainment.

A FAIR WARNING

One That Should Be Heeded By Norway Residents

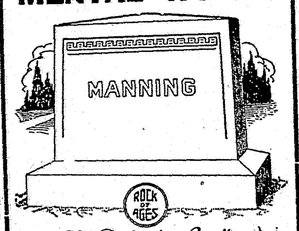

Frequently the first sign of kidney trouble is a slight ache or pain in the loins. Neglect of this warning makes the way easy for more serious troubles—dropsy, gravel, Bright's disease. 'Tis well to pay attention to the first sign. Weak kidneys generally grow weaker and delay is often dangerous. Residents of this locality place reliance in Doan's Kidney Pills. This tested remedy has been used in kidney trouble over 50 years—is recommended all over the civilized world. Read the following:

Mrs. G. D. Frost, 6 Tucker St., Norway, says: "At the time I used Doan's Kidney Pills they helped me wonderfully and I take pleasure in recommending them. My back gave me trouble and there seemed to be a deep seated pain across the center of my back. My kidneys didn't act regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. As Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in the family with good results, I decided to try them and got a box. After using them, the trouble left me entirely."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Frost had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Low Cost---Comfortable Motoring

Improvements in the design of both the chassis and the famous Buick Valve-in-Head engine have contributed further to the well known Buick qualities of dependability and economy. Innovations in equipment have provided comforts in the open model that approximate those found in much more expensive closed cars.

For instance, with the Buick designed storm curtains, reinforced by the Buick weather strip, closed car coziness in bad weather has been closely approximated. A signal pocket for the driver, complete instrument board, transmission lock and many other conveniences are features every motorist appreciates.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Relay "Ginger"

Rumford—"Good Luck to the Relay!

R. Point-Hanover—"Just leave that 11 miles to us!"

Bethel—"We're in to win!"

Locke's Mills—"You can reckon on us, Perham."

Bryant's Pond—"Leave it to Woodstock."

West Paris—"We're all set for the 28th."

Norway—"Leave it to Norway to do her share."

Oxford—"Don't worry about Oxford."

Buckfield—"Boys on edge for the Relay."

Canton—"Troop No. 1 says she is going to win that relay."

Dixfield—"Gilbertville to Dixfield O. K."

Mexico—"We're still alive, don't worry."

Bethel's New Scoutmaster a 5 year Veteran in Scouting

People interested in the welfare of Bethel boys and Scouting will be glad to know that Rev. Chester B. Oliver is to take charge of Troop No. 1, Bethel, for the following year. Mr. Oliver's well known interest in boys will apply well to Bethel Scouting.

Mr. Oliver has already gained an enviable position in Scouting circles. He is one of a comparatively few Scoutmasters to hold the 5 year veteran rank. He was in charge of Troop No. 1, Wayne, Maine, for two years and followed this closely with three years' service at Elliot, Maine. Mr. Oliver succeeds Chester Howe who resigned for lack of time to apply to the work. Mr. Howe took charge of the Bethel Troop at a time when it seemed impossible to get a scoutmaster. Seven scouts gained advanced degree badges during his term. Much credit is due for the volunteer work and for carrying things along until a man of Mr. Oliver's experience would be gained. Scoutmaster Oliver took the Bethel scouts to the Oxford County Scout Camp during the summer 1922.

Oakland-Auburn Trip—Council "Good Turn"

Scouts know what a "Good Turn" is whether it is Personal, Troop, Patrol. Yet some of them wouldn't be able to describe a Council Good Turn any better than as follows: "boost the other fellow." They would hit it just right anyway for a "good turn" is a good turn whether small or large.

On Wednesday evening, April 11th, Executive Perham spoke on Scouting to come forty scouts at Oakland, saw the organization of a new troop, and assisted in fully organizing the Oakland Scout Board, after the regular scout meeting. Oakland swaps scouting regards with Oxford County and are trying hard to ginger up Kennebec County along Scouting lines. At Auburn, on the following evening, Executive Perham spoke at the Recreational Institute held at the City Hall under the auspices of the Auburn Community Service. The Auburn Community Service is doing a great work in Recreational and Playground work and is a popular organization around Auburn. Community Service recognizes no boundaries and assists various organizations such as Y. M. C. A., Boy Scouts, Y. W. C. A., American Legion, etc.

Troop No. 1, Rumford

The following letter from Troop No. 1, Rumford, sounds good: "On April 4th the following scouts were presented badges by Asst. Scoutmaster Leslie Ferguson: First Class—F. Gallant, B. McConaghy, L. Sorenson, E. Welch, H. Fernald, B. Irish, K. Macauley, K. Kidder. Second Class—S. Shurtleff; Tenderfoot—P. Burditt, K. Pliney, J. Israelson. We have a full troop of forty. Couldn't keep it at 32, due to old members coming back. I have put an absolute limit at 40 (five patrols). We now have two W. J. R. C. units and are open to contest with any Boy Scout W. J. R. C. units in the State.

The following scouts have a total of 61 merit badges to their credit in thirteen different subjects: Abe Coblentz, Elmer Emigh, Paul Fuller, Fred Jenkins, Philip Jenkins, Tom Maynad, Bernard McConaghy, Robert Seymour, F. Sorenson, and Elmer Welch. Six of these scouts were members of the Oxford County Scout Camp for 1922. Good luck for the 100 mile relay race. Yours for scouting, G. Douglas Clark, Scoutmaster No. 1.

Bethel Scouts Hold Good Lead-Off Meeting

The scout meeting held Tuesday evening was the scene of much enthusiasm and real work. Fifteen scouts and Executive Perham were on hand to give Scoutmaster Chester B. Oliver a rousing good welcome. Troop No. 1 pledged its solid support behind Mr. Oliver for 1923.

The 100 mile relay race was the heavy subject of the evening and kept the pot boiling for the evening. Waldo Peaslee was elected Captain, Charles Haselton was elected as telephone tender, and Rex Sessions gained the position as distance recorder. Definite plans for training were made and every Bethel scout is looking for their team to win out O. K.

Scout Freeland Clark was unanimously elected as treasurer of Troop No. 1. The following month will be a drive for new recruits and every Bethel boy of 12 years up is cordially invited to place his name on the list of new scouts for 1923.

Boy Scout Honor Roll

The following scouts have taken advanced degrees in Oxford County. Their official records have been received at County Headquarters:

Troop No. 1, South Paris—Harlan Hammond, first class; Richard Crockett, second class.

FROM FLORIDA TO MAINE

By Lydia Lord Shedd

We started on our homeward trip Saturday, March 31st. Found poor roads for many miles through Florida. Our first stopping place was Buckholm, South Auranta, Fla. on Dixie Highway with fine accomodations. In connection with the hotel the proprietor runs a wayside cafe. Saw many cattle, and swine of all breeds, bee farm and poultry farm. Bee keeping is one of the first industries of Florida.

St. John's River is the only river running north out of Florida. At one time Florida was one of the largest cattle raising states in the Union but they fed on the succulent plants in and around St. John's River and many thousand were lost by getting mired in the bogs and river bottom, so the industry was a failure in some parts of the state. We crossed this river over a wooden bridge, also Tomaka River, passing through Bunnell, Esponola, Hastings and Elkton, then to the ancient city of St. Augustine where we arrived Sunday night, Apr. 1st. St. Augustine is the oldest town in in the United States.

Great preparations were being made for the celebration in honor of the first discovery of this place by Jaun Ponce de Leon over six hundred years ago. The city was gorgeously decorated in wonderful combinations of many colors. Conspicuous among them the American Flag.

The 4th, 5th and 6th of April were the days set apart for this grand celebration. All the ancient costumes worn in those days were to be seen, a grand parade of horse and foot. A great fleet sailed into the bay, same kind of ships and boats, supposed to be the same used by Ponce de Leon. The population is about 20,000. Many people spend their winters here at this ideal spot where there are many hotels, boarding houses, and cafes.

Juan Ponce de Leon landed here Mar. 27, 1513. This was the day of the "Feast of Flowers," by the Indians of the Seloy settlement. Thus he gave it the name of Florida, "The Land of Flowers." Here he sought the Fountain of Youth, that he had heard from a tribe of Indians was here. To-day there is a beautiful spot called "The Fountain of Youth," supposed to be the same found by Ponce de Leon.

There was a street only 7 feet wide at one time. It has since been changed.

There are still many very narrow streets where only a team can pass, with no side walks, only one person can pass at a time one ahead of the other. Here is the wonderful Fort Marion. It covers five acres of ground.

The building of the Fort was begun in 1586 and finished in 1750. A guide is ready to show the tourist through this wonderful place. This Fort was never taken by an enemy. It is built of Coquina, and is the best preserved structure of the military architecture of its time, like the castles built in Europe in the middle ages. We saw dungeons and places where poor human beings were walled up alive and left to die a lingering death. This place was discovered by accident and torn down and the bones of many human beings were found. There was the Guilotine, the death chamber and many other places to horrible to mention. A guard opens the great iron door at 9 A. M.. We could not understand his talk very well as he described each place and its use. Books are found here that give a history of the Fort in part.

There are many beautiful buildings here that would take many days to see. The Memorial Presbyterian Church is a beautiful building erected in 1890 by Henry M. Flagler in memory of his daughter, Mrs. Benedict. Over the east enterance is this text, "Thy memorial, O, Lord is throughout all generations."

The Methodist Church is one of the finest in the city. The oldest house in America is here. "Dodgee's Old Qriosity Shop" is the way it is spelled, a strange relic of by gone years. "The Old Slave Market," another one, "The Old City Gates," are still beautiful and well preserved. The "Alcazar Hotel" is one of the best in the city, a lovely building with fountains and beautiful tropical flowers. Anastasia Light House 165 feet high is seen at a distance. A strange old cemetery is seen here inclosed with stone, trees, mouldering, and overhung with Spanish moss gives one the creeps, so dank and dark are the shadows there.

The old Fort was known as San Marco Castle until it came into the possession of the United States, then the name was changed to Fort Marion. We went into the high watch tower overlooking the sea, and land. Some of the rooms have maiden hair ferns growing over them the walls being covered. They are strictly guarded. Sometime we may write more about this wonderful fort in the old city of St. Augustine. We spent two days here and two nights.

Since then she was employed winters in the cities at her trade and the summers at Albany, Shelbourne and Portland where for the last ten years she has made her home with her brother, the late Dr. Hutchinson.

Firestone Prices on Fabric and Cord Passenger Car Tires and Tubes, also Solid and Pneumatic Truck Tires Will Advance May 1st

The postponement of this price revision is possible only because of our realization of the price danger in the British Crude Rubber Restriction Act which became effective November 1, 1922. We were fortunate in our rubber purchases before the Restriction Act increased the price of crude rubber 150%.

We have always endeavored to champion the cause of better made tires delivered at lowest cost to the tire user by economic manufacturing and distribution. And we are glad of the opportunity to give the car-owner the additional saving at this time.

Firestone Cords embody certain special processes which result in their producing mileage records, heretofore unheard-of in the industry. Among the more important of these superior methods are blending, tempering, air-bag cure and double gum-dipping.

Firestone Dealers are co-operating with us in our movement to supply your needs at present prices as long as their stock lasts and we have advised our dealers that we will supply them with additional tires this month only so far as our output will permit.

SPRING

As I sit alone in the twilight
And listen to the robins sing,
I think of the long, long Winter,

And soon the Fords will be running
Over Fryeburg's new State road
And down through Toll Bridge to Lovell,
Oh Boy, won't that seem good.

A Suicide By Shooting

Frank Carleton, who lived in the north part of this town, committed suicide by shooting, April 10th. He was born and lived until last fall in North Chatham on the Basin Brook near the head waters of Cold River. He led a hermit's life since his parents died about 30 years ago. Last fall he sold the old home to Richard F. Chandler and bought the camp that Dr. C. H. Day constructed out of the old Shell Pond schoolhouse, where he killed himself. The neighbors noticed he acted queer but did not think he was in need of watching, but at 11 o'clock A. M., April 10th, Herbert Andrews went over to carry him some food and found him with a stick through the trigger guard and both feet against the stick and the muzzle of the shot gun against his breast, death must have been instantaneous.

The officials were notified and pronounced it a clear case of suicide. Undertaker Hill from Fryeburg was in attendance. Funeral services were held Thursday at Herbert Andrews. Interment in North Chatham yard.

KEZAR FALLS

Business Booming

The prospects are that our village will be a very busy place this coming summer, and that there will be plenty of employment for all who desire it. First of all the established industries such as the woolen mill, Sokskis Lumber Co. and the bobbin mills are running full blast with plenty of orders ahead, and as more dwelling houses and stores are imperatively needed; the music of the hammer will be heard in the land.

James Downs of Cornish has purchased the Grange Hall, and after remodeling it to some extent will move his clothing machinery into it. The Kezar Falls Woolen Mill are to enlarge their factory as soon as the weather is suitable.

The Kezar Falls Library Association intend to erect a library building on the lot recently presented them by the Kezar Falls Woolen Co.

The covered bridge crossing the great Ossipee at this place is to be removed. The last Legislature voted a sum of money to help the two towns, financially interested, namely, Parsonsfield and Porter. This will almost complete the necessary improvements on the Ossipee Trail from Portland Maine to Ossipee, and Conway in New Hampshire.

At the Corporation meeting held at Norton's Hall, Saturday evening April 14th the same officers as last year with one exception were elected, Sidney Bachelder was appointed clerk.

George Mahoney of Saco was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Julia Newbegin, a couple of days last week.

Rev. and Mrs. Harry Whiting are attending Conference in Bangor this week. Mr. Whiting has received an invitation to return.

Two inches of snow fell Sunday night, but it all disappeared before noon Monday.

CENTRAL MAINE POWER CO

dividends, ALWAYS!

The tides ebb and flow, the moon waxes and wanes, administrations come and go, wars are fought and won, times boom, panics come and times boom again.

But all the time night follows day, water flows down to the sea and power companies keep their water wheels turning, their giant generators whirring—customers use the electric energy, pay their bills and supply the material for dividends.

When you buy the preferred stock of Central Maine Power Company you know you are making an investment that has paid dividends with 100 per cent regularity for more than 17 years.

This security and the company back of it have stood the test of the greatest war of all time—the greatest inflation—the greatest deflation—have stood the test of booms and panics, of bad years and good.

And always the Preferred Stock Has Paid Dividends.

We believe it always Will pay dividends.

If you want the solid comfort that comes from a solid investment, place your money in Central Maine Power Company 7 per cent. Preferred Stock.

RESTORED TO GOOD HEALTH, MOTHER AND CHILDREN GRATEFUL

In East Boston, Mass., at 23 Lamson Street, a contented family of three children and the mother live, daily thanking in silence the kind neighbor who helped them when they were sick. Mrs. Nellie Woodford is the mother and she writes the following letter to Dr. J. F. True & Co.: "Having heard about your medicine from my neighbors and druggist, I wondered if your Dr. True's Elixir wasn't what I needed. I was a hard-working woman, working six hours every day for the Penn Realty Trust Company in Boston. In doing this work I use a lot of strength. Besides this, looking after my house and the care of my three children wore me out.

I always had one special doctor for myself and the children, but he was out of town when I was sick. I took medicine from the druggist which my friends brought in, but nothing did any good. My bowels were out of order. My breath bad, and I was shaky all over. Worst of all the terrible headaches came. It seemed I had suffered years before your Dr. True's Elixir was brought to me by a neighbor.

After a short time I began to cheer up and be myself again. My bowels were soon in order and I noticed that the dizzy spells had left me. I think your Elixir wonderful. I feel full of gratitude towards Dr. True's Elixir.

The children sometimes eat things which don't agree with them, when I am not around to see, and then cramps and constipation follow. I just got out my bottle of Dr. True's Elixir and find no trouble in getting them to take some. It is easy to take. Their bowels are soon all right. It may interest you to know that recently my youngest child was terribly sick and it was a serious case. We all have our Elixir to thank for relieving her of stomach worms. When I gave it to Louise it acted like magic, and fixed her up only after two doses."

Signs of worms are: Constipation, hard and full stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, and occasional pains, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nostrils, and short, dry coughs, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on the tongue, starting during sleep with troublesome dreams, slow fever. If your children show any of these symptoms start giving Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller at once. It has done wonders for children and grownups since 1851. Made of imported herbs of strictly pure quality. Internationally known. 40c, 60c, $1.20.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

Special to the Norway Advertiser

A modest and perfectly natural state pride causes every citizen of Maine to rejoice when any Maine product attracts the favorable attention of the other states and Canada.

When this approval is followed by requests to copy Maine methods the modest pleasure which Maine feels is, of course, keener than ever.

Friends of the Maine Public Health Association today were highly pleased with the nation-wide commendation which is being expressed on every hand in connection with the Association's latest publication "The Ten Book." The book consists of ten chapters on ten different health subjects. The thought behind each chapter is "Prevention." The central idea throughout is the Maine Public Health Association's motto, "Keep Well." The manuscript for the book was approved by the State Department of Health and by the Maine Medical Association's Committee on Public Relations. The cost of printing was borne by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. as a contribution to Maine's effort to become "The Healthiest State." Among the Maine men and women who have cooperated in writing the Ten Book are Dr. B. L. Bryant of Bangor, Dr. Archer Jordan of Lewiston-Auburn, Drs. Francis J. Welch and S. Judd Beach of Portland, Dr. Forrest Tyson of Augusta, Dr. E. H. Risley of Waterville, Walter D. Thurber of Augusta, Miss Edith Soule of Augusta and South Portland, Dr. George H. Coombs of Augusta and Waldoboro and Miss Winifred Taylor of Bangor.

"I like the simple, straight forward manner in which the facts in "The Ten Book" are presented. I can well imagine that this book will be widely read and will do a great deal of good. I shall always be interested in the splendid work of your organization," writes Dr. Hugh S. Cummings, Surgeon-General of the United States Public Health Service.

"I shall use the "Ten Book" to illustrate to my classes of physicians and nurses the beneficial way in which the gist of public health measures can be presented to lay groups," said Dr. Haven Emerson of the Columbia University, College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Health Organizations in Washington, Oregon, Kansas, South Dakota, Utah and Chicago have requested and have been given permission by the Maine Public Health Association to reprint "The Ten Book" for their home states and communities. Other states have asked permission to reprint such sections of the book as seem to apply most directly to their own health problems.

"It would be of immense value to the public welfare if the information in "The Ten Book" could be placed in every home in America," said J. W. Cloverdale, Secretary of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Magazines of national circulation such as The American City, The Survey, The Journal of Outdoor Life, Hygiea and others have voluntarily prepared special articles telling of the accomplishments of the Maine Public Health Association.

So long as the present edition lasts, the Maine Public Health Association at Augusta, Me., offers to send without charge—except for a stamp to cover mailing cost—to any reader of the Advertiser.

TAXATION AND HIGH COST OF LIVING

A mistake was made last week in the statement that the state tax rate for this and next year would be seven per cent. It should have been seven mills.

Many years ago the state of Maine sold some shore rights down in the vicinity of Wells for $100. Many lots have been sold and parties who own what is left want to sell it back to the state for $35,000. Is it any wonder that there are some safe and sane people in Maine who are in favor of the state holding on for a while to what little things of a public benefit that have not been disposed of for a song?—Comment.

The state tax for Androscoggin County will be twice it is said what it was last year.—News Item

It is a sound and wise proposition to make improvements from year to year as they can be afforded. A tax rate of five and six per cent is not sound or wise. It is absolutely ruinous. Apparent flush times cannot always last. There will surely come a day of reckoning, as the tide ebbs. He who cannot see and appreciate this is an unsafe leader, and he should be dropped as a hot potato, who has no sympathy for those upon whom taxes fall heavily and who cannot with the strictest economy make both ends meet at the end of the year. We need new leaders, who understand the condition and wants of the mass of the people, and have ability enough to manage wisely and well.—Comment

The retail price of milk in Portland is sixteen cents a quart. Parties up the line of the Grand Trunk send their milk to the R. R. station there for five cents a quart. It costs one cent a quart for freight and if it costs say 3 cents a quart for the delivery (probably this is too much) teams and collecting. There are 12 cents to be divided between the owners of the milk routes and the producers, of this amount the milk route man gets eight cents and the producer, four. This looks like a system of skinning, where all the cream (profit) and two thirds of the milk, go to the dealers. The producers should get more and the dealers less. Where operators get a big rake off at both ends it is little short of robbery.—A Citizen.

The world to-day is full of abuses and wrongs. The great war ended four years ago last November, yet normal conditions have not returned. This was promised in 1920, but they are as far away as ever. There will have to be some more political shaking up,—weeding out of incompetent leaders—and throwing overboard what is weighting down the ship of state.—Comment.

Neighborly Club Notes

Because of sickness and two deaths in Millettville this winter, the Club meetings have been very few. Now that Spring is at hand and Summer is coming, we look forward to our regular weekly meetings with renewed pleasure.

Mrs. Frank Millett entertained the Club on Thursday last. There were fourteen present. The needles were busy, but the tongues were busier, making up for lost time. It was a pleasant day and all enjoyed walking, even though it was very muddy. Mrs. Ann Millett enjoyed the gathering as much as anyone and she keeps real bright and cheery. At 4:30 the hostess served a dainty treat of sandwiches, fancy cakes, and hot chocolate. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Harold Holt.

Mrs. A. J. Ricker

Mrs. Addie Estella, wife of Albert J. Ricker, passed away at her home on Park street Saturday morning, April 14, at the age of 69 years, 10 months and 6 days. Mrs. Ricker has been a very devoted home body. The past two or three years she has been out very little, especially the past year. She has had frail health for a long time and confined to her chair a good deal, failing gradually until the end, patiently and cheerfully enduring without complaint.

She was born in Woodstock, the daughter of the late Rev. Nathan and Nancy Andrews, who was a Methodist and used to preach here. The 27th of March, 1875 she married Mr. Ricker, who survives her, three children came into their home, Walter E. Ricker of Portland, Arthur Ricker of Bristol, N. H., and Mabel Ricker who has always lived at home. She also has one sister, Mrs. Mary Sanborn, of Massachusetts.

The greater part of her life has been spent here. The funeral, which was private, was held in her late home Monday, 2 P. M., Rev. H. F. Aldrich officiating. Interment in West Paris cemetery. There were beautiful flowers from the family, the Ladies' Aid of the M. E. Church and many other friends and relatives, tokens of love and sympathy. The boys were sent for when they saw the end was near and Walter arrived the day before she died. Arthur was sick in bed with the grip, but he and his wife came Sunday night. Mrs. George Robertson of South Paris, an intimate friend of Mabel and the family, came to the funeral, and a few of the near neighbors and friends.

The grange entertained twenty-two visitors from South Paris last Saturday. They also gave the 3rd and 4th degrees to five candidates. A short program after the initiation, consisting of a vocal duet by Mrs. Wyman and Mrs. White and a piano solo by Olga McKeen. A question, "Which would give the most pleasure, wealth or education?" caused a lively discussion. All enjoyed the dinner and the entertainment. The date May 3rd was named for the Grange sale and drama. A public supper is also being planned.

Mrs. Hattie Hollis is sick and has a trained nurse, who came Sunday evening.

Mrs. W. E. Cole is ill.

The State Department of Health is giving to the public two moving picture lectures, "The End of the Road" and "The Gift of Life." Alida A. Barrows assistant director of the division of social hygiene will be here Monday, April 23 with her moving picture machine and will give her lecture on "The Gift of Life" in the Baptist Church. This is entirely free, the State pays all expenses for the benefit of better health to the people of the State. Everybody come, except children under fourteen. This week she expects to start for New York where she and her sister, Mrs. Evie Lapin are going to be employed in a summer hotel among the Adirondacks for their brother, John Bacon.

"Our Store"

With characteristic regard for the interests of its customers has taken advantage of the lateness of a Maine spring by putting off buying its Spring Coats, Suits and Light Dresses until there is a possibility of wearing them.

Now that the rush of buying from the states south of us is over, New York manufacturers are cutting prices to obtain business and we are enabled to lay in our stocks at figures impossible a month ago. This means a substantial saving to our customers and Fresh New Goods.

Why tolerate cracking plaster?

BY UPSONIZING, you can have walls and ceilings of enduring charm.

Nearly every home—probably your own—has one or more rooms that are a source of embarrassment because of their appearance.

Yet you can easily transform such a room—simply by having your carpenter apply Upson Board right over the old plaster.

Upson Board is the nearest-perfect wall and ceiling material for every kind of building, new or old. It has the enviable record of less than one complaint to every 5,000,000 feet sold and used.

Upson Board is different! It is neither brittle nor absorbent like some boards—thus it reduces waste in handling and saves $5 to $15 per room in painting.

Applied with Upson Fasteners, Upson Board is the only board held securely in place from the back. Disfiguring nail-holes, the big objection to wall board, are eliminated.

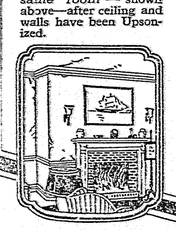

Although fittingly used in the finest of homes as well as the modest cottage, Upson Board is not expensive.

Call or phone for samples, prices and complete information.

Hannibal Hamlin House Remodeled

The remodeling of the Hannibal Hamlin house is in process and will be completed sometime in May.

The present owner, Kimball C. Atwood of New York City is head of the Atwood Grapefruit Company and also prominent in insurance circles. The work of remodeling is in the hands of Philip Mason of South Paris, from the plans, under the direction of Herbert W. Rhodes, architect of Portland. Landscape gardener, during the summer, will create an artistic background for the Atwood home.

Attractive gardener's and chauffeur's cottages and an up-to-date garage will be within easy reach of the main house, and will be planned to add to rather than to mar the general effect of the grounds. Modern water and sewer systems are to be installed and every modern convenience.

On the first floor will be the fine, large living room, the dining room, library, music room, kitchen and service department. The second floor will have five large sleeping rooms, light and airy, each with bath. On this floor also will be located a children's play room. The third floor will have the maids' rooms and a large billiard room. The cupola on the roof is being transformed into a large and very attractive sun parlor.

The colonial lines of the original house are being retained throughout. A large piazza will add to both comfort and effectiveness and a rear piazza will overlook the White Mountains. Here, also will be a large stone fireplace of unique design.

Mr. Rhodes will supervise both the building and the treatment of the grounds. Two distinctive features of the garden will be the large lily pool and the old fashioned rose garden in large variety.

COMPETITIVE STORIES

The following stories were written by pupils in either the 6th, 7th, or 8th grades and are printed because of their merit of excellence.

Christmas

As we all know, Christmas comes but once a year and when it does come everyone, large and small goes skipping around the house hiding things. The only trouble with that idea is that you are likely to run onto a present that someone else has hidden and is going to give you, then the secret is all out.

This Christmas that I am going to tell you about is one of those kind and they got mixed up more than ever before and some of the presents were hidden so well that we never found them at all.

Gertrude and Leone came from Missouri and Dorothy came from Boston and just as soon as they got here they went to hide the things they brought. Gertrude said she wasn't going to put hers all in the same place so she scattered them all over the house.

We had decided to have our tree Christmas Eve so that afternoon every one went to their rooms and started to rumage in the hat boxes and everywhere for the things they had hidden.

In about an hour Gertrude came out and said, "Has anybody seen a big square box about a foot high?"

"Well I haven't seen it to-day but I saw you hide it and I guess it was lucky I peeked because I guess "Doff" would be out a present if I hadn't," piped up Orrington as he was going down the stairs with his arms piled full of bundles. "It is in the ironing room on the top shelf of the closet. Don't you remember now?"

"Oh, yes I know now, gee O. W. if you hadn't peeked Doff would have been out a hat."

"Are you all ready up there?" came Auntie's voice from down stairs, "hurry up we are all through putting our things on and we are just as anxious as you are to see what is in the packages.

"Here we are, bag and baggage, all aboard "lets go," light into 'em," said Norman.—Virginia Tubbs.

A Boy Scout's Trip

The patrol leaders of Troop No. 1 had to measure the distance from the South Paris, town farm to Oxford.

We started at half past eight. We walked up Turkey Ridge for about two miles then we stopped and rested. It was very hard walking because the road had just been harrowed to make the snow melt.

We arrived at the Town-Farm at about ten thirty. Mr. Witham thought a glass of milk would be good so we went up to the farm and drank a glass apiece.

We had to start measuring from there back to town so one of the fellows took the front end of the rope and I took the back end. We had it arranged that when I got to the stick I was to blow my whistle and when he had got it marked he blew his whistle. This worked well and we made good time.

We ate our dinner on a big rock most down to Norway then we went on. We went through the town at about one o'clock.

When we had got most down to Oxford I found I had lost my watch. I went back a mile to where we had rested last, but could not find it.

When we reached Oxford we bought some things and had supper. Then we went up and got the stage for Oxford station. Our train was late so we did not get home until half past eight. We were all tired, and had a right to be as we had walked seventeen and a half miles that day.—Henry Favor.

A Baseball Match

Last year as it was nearing summer the talk of the boys was baseball. We boys thought we would get up a team and play the surrounding towns. So we got together about thirty fellows and tried out for the different positions. We met every night after school and practiced until we had a pretty good team. The first game was to be played for the championship of the school.

Our team had the name of "The Champions," while the opposites had, "America's Own." Both teams were proud of their names and we were anxious for the coming game which was to decide for the championship. We practiced harder than ever and the day the game was to be played we felt as if we could win against the N. Y. Giants.

We started in to play. We were to have our "outs." Our pitcher threw over a couple of slow balls at first at which the opposite man struck at. Then we struck out the following men, and when we went into the field again we had two scores.

The second, third and fourth innings were as the first, so that at the last inning (I forgot to say that it was to be a five inning game) the score was 2-0 in our favor.

The fifth inning the "America's Own" got two scores so that we had to play another inning. Our catcher made a single to right field but it was caught. Then I got on first by a bunt. Our third baseman got a three base hit, making the score 3-2 but to our dismay the next two men struck out leaving a nice chance of getting beat. We played hard and fast and there were two outs with a man on second and third and a good man up to bat. We thought we were lost but he only hit a fly which was caught, leaving us champions of the school.—Gary Locke

The familiar song, "Home Sweet Home" will have reached its one hundredth birthday on May 8. It made its first appearance 100 years ago in Concert Garden Theatre, London.

TODAY I AM REAL WELL

So Writes Woman After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Jamestown N. Y.—"I was nervous, easily excited and discouraged and had no ambition. Part of the time I was not able to sit up as I suffered with pains in my back and with weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, both the liquid and tablet forms, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash for inflammation. Today I am real well and run a rooming house and do the work. I recommend your medicine to every woman who complains, and you may use my letter to help any one else. I am passing through the Change of Life now and I keep the Vegetable Compound in the house, ready to take when I feel the need of it."—Mrs. ALICE D. DAVIS, 203 W. Second St., Jamestown, N. Y.

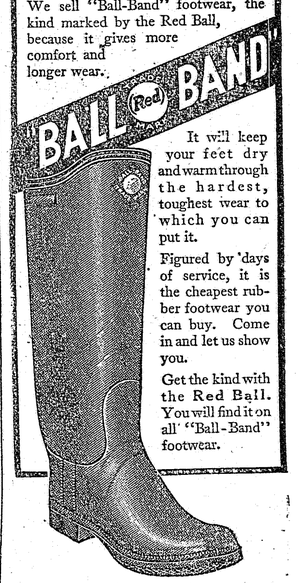

Often some slight derangement may cause a general upset condition of the whole system, indicated by such symptoms as nervousness, backache, lack of ambition and general weakness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine for such troubles. In many cases it has removed the cause of the trouble.

GWENDLEEN ARROWNUT'S LIFE ON THE FARM

Written by Annie Cummings, Fryeburg, Me.

Gwen watched her chance but found none for two days. On the morning of the third day after the funeral, Aunt Nancy left her churning while she went to gather the eggs. Then Gwen slipped up stairs and moved the trunk and lifted up the carpet where she found a small package wrapped in brown paper. She quickly pinned it to her petticoat and pushed the trunk back, then hurried to to the kitchen where she opened the letter of Uncle Nat's, this was what she read:

"My darling Gwendleen, I am writing this for you to read after I am gone and although I have seen you suffer and abused I dared not tell you before and it was a comfort to me to see a young darling girl around my home, and you was so much like your mother. I must tell you now before Nancy catches me writing this. She would kill me rather than have you know, but here it is: Your mother my dear, was a beautiful young lady of twenty-two when I first met her; it was the year that I was forced to marry Nancy Baldwin by my uncle, who had no heart or soul. I married Nancy and meant to try and love her but you can see how perfectly impossible that was for I don't think that any one could do that.

I owned this farm and had money then so that was why she wanted me I suppose. Well, after we were married we lived quite contented for a month then I went to Newland to see about buying a strip of timber on the west lot and if I do say it, I was a fine looking fellow then. I was twenty-six and had black curly hair and brown eyes and dressed well.

Well I went to a friend's house and really forgot for a while that I was a married man. I went to a ball and it was there that I met your mother, the one woman in the world that I ever loved. I fell in love with her and before I realized what I was doing I had her in my arms with her beautiful head on my shoulder and had told her I loved her and she had told me she loved me in return but it was then that it came rushing over me like a chill of ice that I belonged to another, a rough, hard-hearted woman three years older than I was myself and I told her and asked her to forgive me and she did, God bless her; she said perhaps it was just as well as her father wanted her to marry a duke and that they were to be married in June and this was the last of May. You can imagine how this hurt me, but of course I couldn't blame her and she gave me her picture which I carried home with me. I tried to use Nancy as well as possible but she wouldn't hear of being treated well and at last she found this girl's picture one day while I was sleeping, and when I awoke she was gone, also the picture I loved so well and she didn't come back for a long time, and when she did she was carrying a bundle, and that bundle was you, dear; she had gone to Newland and entered your mother's house as a nurse and when you was nine days old had stolen you and brought you here to get her revenge on your mother and myself, but she threatened to kill me if I told and I have never dared until now to try, and let you know. You are twelve years old now and probably will be older when you get this, but you will find the clothes you wore under the carpet where I will tell you before I die. Now you go to Newland with the money I am enclosing in this letter and find the Duke of Maple Castle and if his wife, Gwendleen is alive, let her read this letter and you will find your mother. I have tried to love and care for you as my very own but Nancy has beat me at every turn,—forgive me if you can. Your loving friend "Nathanal."

Gwendleen had just time to push this into her bosom and began to churn when Nancy entered the room and told her to leave the churn and go to her room and go to bed and sleep till night as George was coming to see her that evening.

Gwen made believe she was afraid of Nancy and edged off to her room where she hurried into her best black print dress and brushed her golden curls, then took her money and package and letter—pinned them all firmly to her bosom and jumped out the window, first locking her door and throwing the key away. She hurried through the woods about three miles. Then she saw a team coming along. She waited until it was near and saw it was a man who was going to the depot with freight, so asked him if she could ride. He helped her in and on they went.

She arrived in Newland at seven-thirty that evening and hired a car to take her to Maple Castle, where she arrived in about fifteen minutes. The driver looked at her and said, "Why Miss I thought it was Mrs. Gwendleen herself, but I see you are very young and Mrs. Gwendleen has changed in the past ten years so much. She was once a beautiful girl like you, but the saying is Miss that she had a little daughter once and her nurse kidnapped it, and the mother has never seen or heard of it since, and at one time she was nearly insane over it. They hunted all over the Country for it but never heard of the nurse or saw her again.

Gwen didn't stop to hear any more but payed and thanked the driver and hurried up the Marble Walk leading to the front door of the Castle, where she rung a gold plated door bell. It was soon answered by a butler. He said, "Good evening, Miss, is there any one you would like to see?" "Yes Sir, is Mrs. Gwendleen in?" she asked. He told her to just step inside and he would call her. She sat down in the beautiful room which seemed to her like a wonderful dream. She hardly had time to think before the door opened and a beautiful lady stood before her. She wore a beautiful dress of pale blue material that looked like a soft summer cloud with diamonds gleaming on her breast and in her pretty golden hair. She stood for a moment with one hand on her heart and the other clasping the crimson davenport where she stood, gazing at the beautiful girl so near like the picture of herself, taken eighteen years ago, then suddenly she remembered she was standing before a guest, and walked forward with one soft white hand outstretched and Gwen only passed her the letter saying, "Here is a letter for you from my uncle, he gave it to me just before he died and his last words were for you."

The Countess took the letter and read it through like one in a dream and when she had finished it she first kissed the letter, then took the waiting girl in her arms and rained kisses on her saying, "My own darling, child, welcome home. Your papa died a year ago, but I will try and answer for both dear. Oh! how perfectly happy I am and how I loved my dear brave Nat. He was a perfect hero; poor Nat how he must have suffered, and you my dear child, I am oh, so pleased to get you back again after all these years of loneliness and sorrow for us both."

Gwen put her arms around her mother many times. "My dear, dear mother how I have often thought how my own mother looked and I never dreamed of her being half as beautiful as she is and so kind and true." Her mother for the first time noticed her dress of black print, then her shabby feet. Now, my dear she said, "I suppose you are very hungry. I will take you to your room at once and bring you a lunch myself.

Before eight-thirty she was eating of the best food in Newland, Scotland. She went to bed for the first time in a real bed and was soon fast asleep and dreaming that she was back with her Aunt Nancy, being scolded and working hard. When she awoke in the morning the sun was streaming in her window, and she sprang out of bed and looked at the tiny clock on the dresser. It was past ten o'clock and she always got up at half past four on the farm. She was hurrying into her black dress, when the door opened and a darky girl came in. "Good morning Miss," she said, "the Countess sent me up to see if you had woke up and said she would be right up. She hurried down stairs and Gwen's mother soon appeared in a handsome yellow satin dinner gown, embroidered with black jet and lace. "Good morning my darling," she said taking Gwen in her arms. Now, my dear I want you to put this on and wait a few minutes. I want to dress you up fine."

She held out a pretty white mull kimono and cap which seemed to be nothing but a cloud of ruffles and lace. Gwen cried, "oh! mother isn't that beautiful am I to wear it to-day? It seems too bad to wear all that lace before the work is done." Her mother answered, "Why my darling child this is only a kimono to wear before you dress in the morning." "Oh, mother it is the first bit of lace I ever had in my life and really I would be charmed to wear it to church. I never attended church but once and that was when Uncle Nat had me christened. He told me about it." Her mother smiled through her tears and said, "dear, dear Nat." Then she rang the bell and ordered Gwen's trunks sent up, also a hair dresser and a maid.

The trunks were soon setting open before her astonished eyes for there were suits, dresses, coats, gloves, shoes, hosiery, hats and ribbons of every hue, also one whole trunk of fine underwear, combs, pins, and jewelry of all kinds. "Oh, mother how can I ever thank you for all these beautiful things?" she cried, "they are so wonderful, it seems like a dream to me. I have never had anything half so nice in all my wretched life." 'This isn't half what you deserve, my precious child. Now we will dress you, and see what a change we can make in our little milk maid. The hair dresser was the first one to start the change. She combed, brushed, and piled the beautiful golden curls high on the little head and no one ever seeing Gwendleen Arrownut at the Brock farm would ever know this wonderful little daughter of the Countess of Maple Castle. Now, she was soon dressed in a dinner gown of pale blue, trimmed with pearls of every hue, and stockings and pumps to match. She now went down the long stair case with mirrors reflecting her image at every step as she entered the day of her new found life.

Two years have passed since Gwendleen entered her new home. She is now eighteen years old and her mother seems younger by ten years than when Gwen first saw her. Gwen is about to be married to a young captain in the army, She is loved by all and has found happiness enough to offset the misery she so bravely bore in her early life. She has erected a beautiful monument at her Uncle Nathaniel's grave.

Nancy Brock married the rancher, Bill Cryx, who from the moment they were married began to abuse her. He sat in the house and smoked and drank while Nancy did the work. She could see now how to pity poor little Gwendleen and Nat, whom she had driven to work all their lives. She is now laid to rest by her first husband's side in Greenwich.

Gwendleen is married and has a lovely home with her mother who couldn't possibly part with her dear child as the young captain wasn't at home only for a short time at a time. We will leave her new found happiness to enjoy the rest of her life.

IMPORTANCE OF CLEAN MILK

No one cares to use a food which is not produced and handled under sanitary conditions. Yet many consumers fail to realize the full significance of dirty milk and milk that sours on the day of delivery. Serious epidemics of typhoid fever, septic sore throat and other diseases have been disseminated through the milk supply. Most of the scientific evidence of today goes to prove that bovine tuberculosis may be transmitted to human beings, especially children.

If the milk producer will consider the subject of clean milk from an unbiased standpoint he will realize that is most cases very much can be done toward improving milk production without a relative increase in the expense. A reputation for clean milk means fewer complaints, a beter class of patrons, and a steady market for the product of the dairy.

The farmer should desire the cleanest possible product to protect the health of his own family and in the raising of thrifty calves. Another personal advantage is, that, in the endeavor to produce better milk, a man learns the best methods of care and management of the herd and this in turn leads to better business methods generally.

Clean milk can be produced at a very slight extra expense. Many dairy farmers have the idea that they must have one of the new, so-called sanitary barns, with its modern equipment, in order to put out the best grade of milk. There is no question but that such is a great advantage in time and labor saved, yet we know that these things are not essential.

If the ordinary farmer will keep his cows as clean as he does his horses—and there is certainly more reason for having them well groomed—then one big source of contamination has been eliminated. This will take about five minutes per day, per animal, providing suitable bedding is used. Dry sawdust is very efficient and, in most cases, as economical as anything used for this purpose. The udder and teats should be washed and wiped dry, just previous to milking. This operation takes about a minute per cow, per milking. The milker should wash and thoroughly dry his hands at this time. He should not even pass his hand over a cow, horse, or any other animal until all the cows have been milked, thus avoiding chances of contamination.

The feeding of hay and ensilage after milking instead of before, adds nothing to the expense of production, but results in better milk.

The hooded pail is the next requisite in the production of sanitary milk. The hood protects the milk from most of the dust and dirt which might fall into the pail during the process of milking. Its cost is but slightly more than that of the open pail, yet the protection afforded is worth many times the difference in price.

The man who honestly desires to put out as pure a product as possible at a minimum cost cannot afford to be without this pail.

As soon as the milk is obtained from the cow it should be taken immediately to the milk room or house, as the case may be. Here it should be strained throuh a thin layer of absorbent cotton placed between two pieces of cheese cloth. Next, it should be cooled to 50 degrees F., or lower, if possible.

The utensils should be washed in cold water, then hot water and finally sterilized with boiling water or steam. Next, they should be inverted in a well-lighted, well-ventilated place and allowed to drain. Direct sunlight is one of the best exterminators of bacteria.

After the milk bottles and cans have been washed and allowed to drain they should be left in an inverted position, until filled with milk. In case it is not convenient to leave them in such a position, they should be covered with a paper or several layers of cheese cloth to keep out the dust. The milk bottle caps should be kept in a jar, or box, free from dust and other means of contamination.

During the summer months ice should be packed around the bottles and cans while in the delivery cart. This will regard the growth and development of the bacteria.

LATEST WONDER

Here is something about the latest wonder of this marvelous age. It is from an article in the current Scribner's by Orange Edward McMeans, entitled "The Great Audience Invisible." "A new voice is heard in the land. It comes to join the chorus of those whose mission is to amuse, instruct and advise the people. This new voice, speaking near and far, with the speed of light, over mountain and plain and sea, to limits which we dare not set short of the uttermost parts of the earth, is radio communication—particularly its latest phase, radio telephone broadcasting. The printing-press and the motion picture stand out as epoch-making instruments in telling the world what the world is doing. But radio broadcasting harks back to the primitive, the direct appeal by word of mouth giving it new power as yet unmeasured. The orator may now speak to millions with less effort than formerly to hundreds. The "hear ye" of the town crier resounds not only through the village streets, but is heard afar in city and country, even out on the trackless deep. The voice of the singer and the sweet harmony of the instrument remain not within the narrow confines of the audience-room, but leap forth into space, scorning walls or other barriers, and finding charmed listeners wherever they may be."

Mrs. Starbird recently entertained her Sunday school class. The meeting was called to order by the president, Nellie Wills. After the regular business, a short literary program was given: concert recitation, "The Sandpiper," after which the teacher related about her trip to the Isles of Shoals and being taken around Appledore island, where Celia Thaxter lived and wrote her poems, by Miss Thaxter's brother, who has a motor boat for the purpose of taking out visitors. Gordon Hayes told about orioles, Ruth Whitman, blue jays; Helen Heslop read an article on grosbeaks and Claribel Smith a paper on the scarlet tanager.

Games of various kinds, all about birds were enjoyed for a time, after which a supper was served. In the dining room the decorations were blue birds, which was carried out in a clever manner, even to the dishes which had the favorite blue bird pattern. Seventy-five pictures of birds were used in the decorations and much interest was manifest in one game which was to determine the name of birds left vacant.

The next meeting will be of flowers and will be held in May at the home of Gordon Hayes.

Arthur Bumpus will haul the lumber recently purchased by John Goodall of Kemp Bros., from the mill here to Oxford station where it will be loaded for shipment.
